Evidence-Request List

Property: _____

Date: _____

Part C: The package.

Takes in: the M and U items from AS-05

Hands to: AS-15/AS-15R, AS-08/AS-08R, AS-17

Within 48 hours of intake, send one batch, not a drip of emails. The request is a test of the seller: real sellers welcome it. Log every receipt. Record every 'cannot provide' as unresolved. Silence is evidence too.

Cover email, ready to paste

Subject: document request for [Park Name]

[Name], good talking. I buy on verified numbers, so here is my standard list. Tier 1 first: it decides whether I spend more time. If you do not keep formal books, the bank statements and the shoebox work fine. Send what you have.

I log everything as it arrives. If something cannot be produced, tell me straight. That is information too.

Tier 1: gates further spend

Document requested	What it verifies	No-books fallback	If they cannot produce
12 months bank statements, all accounts	Revenue hit the bank	Deposit slips, check images	Revenue is a story; price on nothing
12 months utility bills, every meter	Who pays, and how much	Call the utility with account numbers	The bill you inherit is unknown
Current rent roll with lot numbers	Who pays, who is late	Their notebook, dated and signed	Occupancy is claimed, not counted
Water and wastewater permits	Legal to operate	Pull the county or state file yourself	The license to operate is missing
Current property tax bill	The real tax load	Assessor website printout	Reassessment surprise at close
Insurance declarations page	What is actually covered	The agent's email summary	You buy uninsured risk

Front page 1: the cover email and Tier 1. Front page 2: Tiers 2 and 3, the request log, and the response scorecard.

Tier 2: must be in before EMD hardens

Document requested	What it verifies	No-books fallback	If they cannot produce
Tax returns, 2 years	Income the IRS saw	CPA letter or filed summaries	Two sets of books is a finding
P and L on actuals	Where the money went	Bank statements plus bills	Expenses are a guess
Leases and park rules	Terms tenants signed	The posted rules, photographed	You inherit unknown terms
Park-owned home titles + lien search	They own what they sell	Title company pull	You buy someone else's lien
Phase I or environmental disclosure	No buried surprises	Seller disclosure, signed	Unknown ground risk
Survey	What you actually buy	County GIS plus a new survey	Boundary and easement risk

Tier 3: before close

Document requested	What it verifies	No-books fallback	If they cannot produce
Tenant estoppels	Tenants confirm the terms	Manager walk-through with you	Terms are one-sided
Vendor contracts	What you inherit	The vendors' own copies	Surprise contracts
Business licenses, current	Legal to collect rent	City or county clerk	Operating without license
Proration source documents	Clean split at close	Final bills in hand	You pay their arrears
Keys, passwords, vendor list	Day-one control	Handover checklist, signed	Locked out on day one
Final meter reads	Nobody pays twice	Photos of every meter	Disputed final bills

Seller Response Scorecard

Days to first batch: _____ Received / requested: _____ Documents vs. summaries: _____

The score feeds the Red-Flag Board (AS-14). Slow, partial, or summary-only responses are findings, not delays.

Worked example: Maple Bend Estates (fictional)

Request sent 2026-09-28. Tier 1: 6 items. Received: bank statements in 6 days, complete. Utility bills partial, 9 of 12 months. Rent roll arrived with no lot numbers, unusable for reconciliation. Permits received. Tax bill received. Insurance declarations page: asked twice, no answer in 7 days. Status: U.

Scorecard: response time 6 days. Completeness: 4 complete of 6 = 66.7% (4 / 6 = 0.667). Quality: statements complete, bills partial, rent roll summary-only. The seven-day watch: silence on the insurance page is data. The U goes to the Red-Flag Board and into the price. Tier 2 does not start until Tier 1 is whole.

The Doctrine

The belief this shatters: asking for documents is adversarial. It is the most honest thing you can send a seller. Real sellers welcome it, because it means the buyer is serious. How a seller handles this list predicts how closing will go: fast and complete, or slow and partial, or silent. The rule: one batch, logged, within forty-eight hours. Every cannot-provide becomes unresolved, every silence gets read as data on the seven-day watch, and the scorecard goes to the Red-Flag Board. You are not interrogating. You are giving them the chance to prove the park is what they say it is.
